DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election of Group I, claims 1-3 in the reply filed on 28 August 2008 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Inako et al. (JP-A 02-107682).

See the JPO abstract which shows a hole density of .2 to 1 mm and a hole separation of 1 to 10 mm for a pressure sensitive adhesive sheet. This meets applicant's limitation of .1 to 300 microns and 30 to 50,000 per 100 cm.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Inako et al. (JP-A 02-107682) in view of Liu et al. (U.S. 6,627,844).

Inako et al. teaches a pressure sensitive adhesive sheet with applicant's claimed hole range as discussed above. Liu et al. teaches laser machining of holes to produce entrance holes that are larger than exit holes. The instant invention claims exit holes on the outside of the adhesive sheet that are smaller than the holes on the adhesive side. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used the laser method of Liu et al. to perforate the sheet of Inako et al. and from the larger holes on the adhesive side to preserve the appearance of the outside of the tape because of the teachings of Liu et al.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to William P. Watkins III whose telephone number is 571-272-1503.
